1. Training for the National Register of Historic Places Nomination Process
(Consultant Wilkman)

Consultant Bill Wilkman convened a training session that meets the annual educational requirements for the Historic Preservation Commission Members.

The topic, “National Register of Historic Places Nomination Process” provided extensive information on the process through which a historic building, district or site is nominated for listing on the prestigious National Register.

The training, which included a PowerPoint presentation from Consultant Wilkman, used the current efforts to list the Lake Norconian Club as a case study. Consultant Wilkman indicated that the effort to nominate the Lake Norconian Club has been extremely complex, requiring exhaustive, unassailable documentation.
